

Pat Serie

Pat Serie, Principal of Enviroissues has over twenty years of experience in issues ranging from land use to transportation to radioactive waste management and disposal to correctional facilities to baseball stadiums, Pat offers clients a unique understanding of technical and regulatory issues with a background in psychology, communication, facilitation, and human nature. Pat's most current project experience includes the relicensing of Boundary Dam in eastern Washington, water reservoir protection in Portland, Oregon, and water quality in the Willamette Basin.